

EXPERIENCE

Brian P. Roteliuk, Esq., is a partner at Weil & Drage, APC. His practice focuses primarily on the representation of design and construction professionals in a wide array of legal matters involving multi-million and billion-dollar projects. Brian has considerable experience with development, design, and construction claims, including but not limited to, complex delay, cost overrun, and defect matters involving infrastructure, healthcare, commercial, education, and residential projects. Brian also has experience with personal injury and wrongful death cases arising out of those projects. Brian's experience includes and involves extensive litigation, including but not limited to mediations, arbitrations, trials, and appellate practice in state and federal courts in California and Arizona. Brian also has significant experience with construction lien claims, contract creation, review, and negotiations, bankruptcy matters, real estate, and landlord/tenant disputes. He is licensed in multiple jurisdictions and practices throughout California and Arizona.

Outside of the office, Brian is an avid fan of live music and Los Angeles Dodgers baseball.
